Volchenkov has two seasons remaining on his deal. Rodin is a restricted free agent who is without a contract. Volchenkov, 32, has one season left on his contract. He appeared in 50 games for the Maple Leafs this season, collecting 11 points, a plus-six rating and 42 penalty minutes. He's a plus-13 in his career, but his penalty minute total and minus rating have gone up the past couple of seasons. He had a positive impact on the defensive side of the puck, playing a heavy role as a penalty killer. Dreger also reports the Maple Leafs have placed defenseman Luke Schenn on injured reserve. This trade would seem to indicate the Leafs are down to one healthy defenseman. Roman Polak has been out since April 14 with an upper-body injury. Kaberle has appeared in 12 games and might be able to return soon.Changing climate conditions and environmental stressors, such as air pollution and toxic chemicals, have long been considered to be the primary causes of adverse human health outcomes, including cancer. However, the combined effect of climate change and chemical exposures on human health is more complex and remains largely unexplored. We propose to use a unique experimental model - a large population of the "human mosquito" Aedes aegypti - to address this issue. For more than 100 years, this species has been the primary vector for dengue, yellow fever and other deadly arboviral diseases. The mosquito is also a major vector of arboviral encephalitis (arithmetic mean of 50,000 cases of viral encephalitis per year), a disease that predominantly affects children in the developing world. Two-thirds of the world's population, including billions of children, live in areas where arboviral disease is endemic and are therefore vulnerable to infection. In addition, arboviruses, including dengue virus (DENV) and West Nile virus (WNV), are emerging to threaten human health due to environmental changes, including climate
